

WILL DISCUSS CITY FINANCES

Budget Commission and Officials Will Seek Solution for Shortage in Funds.

Ways and means of ironing out the city's present financial difficulties will be discussed today at 7:30 p. m. at a meeting of city officials and the county budget commission to be held at Mayor J. Don Jones' invitation in the latter's office.

Feasibility of placing a suggested one-half cent city hospital levy before the electorate may be one of the topics for discussion, although no definite program has been planned for the meeting, Jones said today.

Jones suggested the levy Tuesday in a talk before the Rotary club at the Hotel Harding. The levy, if passed, would provide the city with an extra annual revenue of from $45,000 to $50,000, which, coupled with the institution's income, would prove sufficient to operate the hospital without loss, it was pointed out. At present the hospital is a $10,000 to $15,000 annual loss to the city, Jones declared, and this item has helped place the city in financial difficulty.

While the hospital is one financial liability, another reason given by Jones for the city's financial condition is the decrease of the tax portion from $341,000 last year to $228,000 this year. Possibility of taking up this shortage is one of the problems to be discussed tonight.

As the city grows, so will its expenses increase, Jones told Rotarians, and as a result its income for operating must never be decreased.

County commissioners also have been invited to attend the meeting, as well as other city and county officials.

DEEDS, LEASES INCREASE HERE

Mortgages One-Third Less Than Previous Year, Report Shows.

Deeds and leases in Marion county increased in number during the recent year which ended June 30, according to a report on conveyance statistics filed by Mrs. Cora McKeeter, county recorder, with Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown.

Deeds totaled 1,050, a decided increase over the 1,551 figure for the year ending June 30, 1929, while leases amounted to 71 as compared to 61 for the previous year.

Mortgages, however, showed a marked slump, the total of 1,051 for the past year being nearly one-third less than the 1,599 for the year preceding. The 1,051 mortgages amount to $2,018,769.24, and those for the previous year totaled $1,255,502.44.

Amount of money involved in the transfer of deeds is difficult to figure since the customary "31" is given as the "consideration" in most of the instances.

Cancellations of mortgages numbered 559 during the past year as compared to 1,157 for 1929-30, with respective totals of $2,522,492.12 and $2,421,770.13.

Daily Proverb Most men are more willing to indulge in easy vices than to practice laborious virtues.

Vesuvius is again in eruption. The way that volcano times its eruptions to strike the height of the tourist season is almost miraculous.

A New York woman spiritualist has already described the arrival of the late Dr. Conan Doyle on the other side. The riddle has nothing on her for speed.

July wheat opened at eighty-six cents in Chicago Tuesday. The lowest price for that commodity in seventeen years. It's the old story. Whenever a government attempts to sustain prices artificially it runs into trouble.

A waitress in a Childs restaurant in New York City has won a flying income. Her bill today having cost her the aggregate of all she had received in 1,000 tips. She is now going ahead to fly the necessary number of hours to qualify for a transport license. She has been tipped to prove a winner and no pun is intended either.

It is hard to escape the belief that some thing more than luck attended the scores who left that plot at Penn's Grove across the Delaware river from Wilmington just before it collapsed and sank in twelve feet of water.

The complete census of New York City shows that it has a population of 6,658,792, an increase of 1,337,711 or nearly twenty-four per cent during the last ten years. At this rate another decennial period may show New York rather than London, to be the world's metropolis.

While observing King George and Queen Mary as they entered the new Indian house in London on the occasion of its dedication, a New York woman was robbed of a pearl necklace valued at $10,000. Politicians to the sea, pleads expression of approval of the intelligence of a woman who would wear a $10,000 necklace in a crowd.

A Chicago policeman was shot as he was leaving a shop in the night season with stolen goods valued at $700 under one of his arms. The breaking of the glass of the show window in which the goods were being displayed having attracted the attention of a night watchman. About all that may be said for him is that he didn't follow the Chicago way of shooting it out with the victim and throwing the job on to the fitter.

Two Highway Safety Suggestions

The National Conference on Street and Highway Safety is authority for the statement that despite the expenditure of approximately $50,000,000 annually in this country for their elimination, grade crossings are increasing in number as the result of new railroad construction. If this be true, what owing to the wide extent of our domain and the multiplicity of our railroads, would be a stupendous undertaking, were the number of grade crossings not increased becomes almost a hopeless one. Under such conditions it is evident that some other method for protecting highway traffic must be adopted.

To this end two very sensible suggestions have been offered by students of highway travel. One is that a sign, radically different from all other highway markers be adopted by all the states—a uniform sign of a shape and coloring dissimilar to those of any in use, which should be protected from any other use than that of marking the approaches to railroad crossings.

The second is that these signs should be placed much farther distant from crossings than crossing signs at present are located. The value of this suggestion will be appreciated when consideration is given to the speed at which motor vehicles travel. Back in the days of horse-drawn vehicles, crossing signs were sensibly placed, but as highway traffic moves today, such signs are far too close to crossings, motorists often not being able to distinguish them in time should there be occasion to bring their machines to a standstill. That there is merit in this suggestion is evidenced by the number of motorists who crash into trains.

No matter what the style of sign or what its location on the highway with reference to a crossing it will avail little in protecting from themselves the divers whose ambition it is to beat the train to the crossing. It is not impossible that were these two suggestions universally adopted they might work to increase the number of accidents to those suffering from this urge, but they should work to the protection of the average motorist not afflicted with either this particular mania or an ever present willingness to take a chance.

An Adventure in Death.

A young doctor fiddling around in his office waiting for practice to turn up turned to writing to relieve his boredom and the world famous Sherlock Holmes and his exploits. At that Arthur Conan Doyle was himself impatient with this character the detective and Dr. Watson made his literary fame. They were detective stories they brought a character who used deductive and inductive reasoning to solve crime into fiction. They brought brilliant acts of poohbah and for noble poetry again into the realm of story telling. The world was becoming interested in science and literature was purporting to be scientific. The super sleuth was a success and its author found his literary planitude.

Yet what Sherlock Holmes story could give the space of adventure that Sir Arthur's White Company offered the young reader? So many readers know Sherlock Holmes who do not know Sir Nigel Loring, in the sign of the four and the White Company. They are making a literary feast even in these days of scientific literature. Those who have devoured Dumas tasted elevenor read Poe will delight in those adventures of Sir Arthur's other characters.

Now he goes beyond that threshold which human logic and scientific deduction have yet been unable to cross. He goes where that company of adventurers before him and after him go to fight with death. He goes in an adventure and a detective the prototype of his Sherlock. He wants to join the spirits of men who have gone before him in to what he has called a summerland. He is firmly faithful his letters show that he will be able to communicate with his family from that bourne, a spiritualist he hopes to be a proof of spiritualism. There will be some curiosity about that for a little while especially among others of the same belief, there will be mediums who claim that they have communicated with him and then we shall wait for another spiritualist to die and hear his pronouncement that he will talk from beyond the stars. Meanwhile A Conan Doyle the author will live as a recorder of adventures. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle played chess and spiritualist must accept the fate that time holds for such mortals.

Munozini tells Ireland that Italy is ready for a United States of Europe provided that the United States of Europe is a horn of plenty. At times one is bound to feel that Benito is just about two thirds ahead of all the other premiers of Europe.

The motor vessel Britannia took seven days thirteen hours and thirty five minutes on her maiden trip from Liverpool to New York. She has an average speed of 15.96 knots an hour. She is the latest engine liner afloat. If judged by her initial trip far from the speediest.

"Mother" Jones to Mr. Rockefeller.

Congratulations on the arrival of your ninety fifth birthday. read a telegram received by John D. Rockefeller Tuesday from Mother Jones who but recently celebrated her hundredth birthday anniversary. Thank God we have some men in the world as good as you. We never needed them more than we do today. Most sincere wishes that you may be blessed with many more.

Rather a striking tribute to this centennial who once was sent to jail during a coal mine strike for her attacks on the Rockefeller. But then have changed and so have the reform on life's stage and this old woman no longer speaks or acts with the feelings which once were hers in the heat of labor misunderstandings. It may be too late to say that her powers of perception have been quickened with the flight of the years and that she sees deeper into the hearts of men than she did far back in the past and is better able to understand and measure them. This is one of the blessed effects of advancing years they make one more to be open to impressions of the good of all that is best and highest in humanity.

Former President Coolidge suggests that judgment regarding the case of the farm board be deferred and he is right about it. The members are probably feeling bad enough as it is over the showing the board has made.

United States Senator George W. Norris has said to keep the name of Nebraska State Senator George W. Norris off the bill of the Nebraska senatorial primary. If the former would run on the ticket for which he worked in 1928 he wouldn't have had to proceed to such a method to keep a name off the Republican ticket.

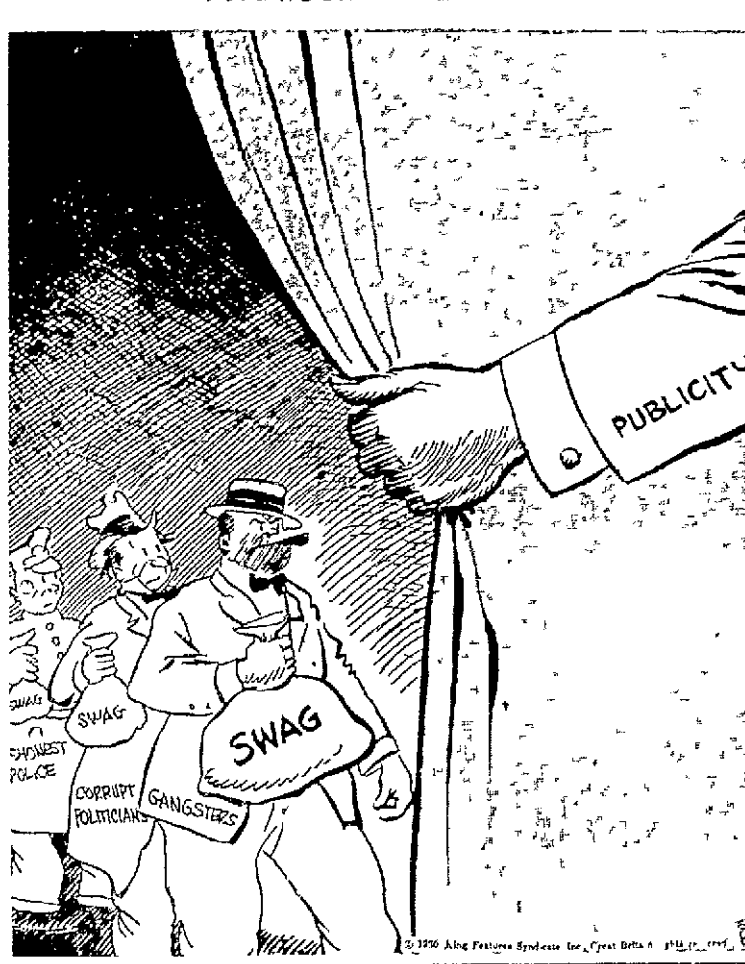

A Philadelphia gangster was electrocuted this week for a murder committed late in April of the present year. In time we may be able to attain the British record for speedy punishment of murderers which has made the taking of human life the rare exception in England which it is.

Lincoln park Chicago was littered with thirty tons of paper and paper boxes discarded by fourth of July picnickers. Such abuses of parks not only makes beauty spots unsightly but also adds to the cost of living. As such litter is removed at the expense of the funds contributed by the public to municipal government.

The account of votes in the Hotel Michigan contest up in Chicago up to Tuesday night showed the contestant leading the congressman by 21 votes. Michaelson having lost 167 votes and Michaelson having gained eighty three. So many evidences of fraud have been disclosed that the contest is liable to arouse more comment than the congressman's leaky trunk.

A citizen of Brockton, Massachusetts who has been sitting on a fifty-foot pole in his back yard for almost a month and is recognized as the champion pole sitter of the world is receiving all kinds of undesirable and amusement offers. Think of the rare intellectual treat it is going to be to sit and listen to the world's champion pole sitter tell how he got it.

PULLING BACK THE CURTAIN.

Editorial Opinion

CONTINUING FACTS

English astronomers who were making a few weeks ago that the new planet discovered at the Lick Observatory and since named Pluto was in a planet at all but only a special kind of comet. It has been proved wrong in their criticism of the American work. Thanks to what might be called fresh criticism of the planet, recorded on photographic plates taken as long as eleven years ago but previously unnoticed a newly formed orbit of the planet has been computed. It traces undoubtedly to be a planetary in nature of the solar system, in all essentials of its motion to the other planets previously known.

This old new photograph continually has scores of photographs all over the earth and the photographs are filed to the eye of a layman these photographs look like nothing more profound than a lot of black and white ink sprayed at random on a black glass plate. Even astronomers can not tell by looking at them whether one among them thousands of stars portraits may correspond to some heavenly body hitherto unknown. All the stars visible to the human eye are listed named and instantly recognizable. That is by no means the case for the millions of fainter stars forever invisible to human gaze, which telescopic photographs disclose. So on however as the discovery of Pluto was announced astronomers all over the world got out their photographic libraries and plates made in previous years of the regions of the sky in which such constellations of faint stars showed that it may have been in compliance with other star plates of the same region. In other years such star plates were checked for a tiny dot that showed movement in its position. Such a moving dot would be either a planet or a comet, competition of the motion usually being enough to show which.

This search was successful. Four such portraits of the planet were found at Mount Wilson Observatory on plates made in 1910 showing the planet's position at that time. Another on a plate made in 1917 was found in the Lick Observatory in California. Two more dated in 1921 and 1927 have been found on Yerkes Observatory plates. The Mount Wilson 1910 plates astronomical plates that it is certain have indicated Pluto's time of revolution around the sun is 2.3 years. Professor James H. Keeler from the same date but by independent calculations obtained 2.19 years. The Lick Observatory in England, using the Lick plate of 1927 computed the orbital revolution as 2.3 years. The difference is as good as could be expected for an object so far away.

On February 2, 1930, the Mount Wilson astronomers compute that will make its closest approach to the earth for the next three centuries. Between now and then it will be getting brighter never brighter enough it is expected to be visible. Unaided eye. But certainly bright enough to be followed continuously in telescopes and probably to yield many of its secrets of size and character to astronomers' gaze.—New York Herald Tribune.

WASTED OPPORTUNITIES

Last December Senator Cram was prophesying the enactment of anti-highway legislation by Congress as a result of direct action to be brought about by his senate lobby investigating committee. At the time both the national lawmakers and the country seemed to be moderately interested in the matter but dispersed to listen with open mind to anything the committee might develop. But it is highly probable that today there is more general criticism of the Caravan committee and its methods than there is of the lobbyists it was designed to expose and put out of business. The restless way in which it took up matters that were none of its business as attempted to bill do with care and went into purely political matters and its hand discomfited at the news of Bishop Cannon so discredited the body that the nation is likely to be highly suspicious of any legislation its members may undertake to further hereafter.

The history of the senate lobby investigating committee is a remarkably instructive story of misadventure and opportunity.—Detroit Free Press.

Avoid "Foot Cripples"

BY ROYAL L. COOPER AND M. D.

Next time you walk down the street make note of the persons who appear to have no feet. You will marvel at the numbers of limping, hobbling, wincing foot cripples.

There are many causes. Corns, bunions, ingrown toenails, calluses, scalded feet. One or more of these ailments will make the feet sore and intolerable of normal use.

There are two reasons for all such disturbances. First, the feet are the most sensitive of shoes in one of them. The trouble is the trouble.

When you go to bed at night or get up in the morning you do not fail to wash the feet and hands. Why should not the feet have an equal share of attention? They travel in dust and dirt in skin and water. Their use is such that a single day will soil them far more than the hands. On this account they should be bathed in water with soap. Each day should use the feet thoroughly cleansed. To soak them in salt and water will relieve many an ache and pain.

There should be regular trimming of the nails. If done carefully shaving of the corners and removal of the callouses will do much to promote happiness. If you do not feel competent to treat your own feet you may consult a podiatrist or trained chiropodist. A dollar or two paid him will prove to be a profitable investment.

But even though you wash dry and powder your feet regularly they will continue to bother you if they are not well shod. It pays to purchase good shoes. Don't be coaxed into taking any others.

The writings and preaching of health experts have taught the public to read the labels on food packages. It has come to be known that what you eat is vitally important. It is time now to teach the public that there is much to learn about shoes.

It is a good thing to talk to your dealer and find out what is a good shoe and what isn't. He will gladly point out the many shoddy points about the fitting of your foot covering.

Read the newspapers and magazines. Study the advertisements. You can learn much in this way about everything you intend to purchase.

When you are attracted by the statements made about this shoe or that one, try it on. Wear it a while. See how the outside fits. Try on the shoes and see how they feel and look. Make sure of fit and quality.

It pays to care for the feet. You have but two and will never have more. You may be uncomfortable whenever you walk. If this is the case it is probably your shoes are wrong. Take the best care of your feet and they will serve you well all your life.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. S. D. Q.—What do you advise for a thin man? I would suggest that you have your teeth tonsils, nasal sinuses and throat examined. Constipation should be corrected. Avoid dust and violent exertion. Life lots of fresh air and light. In all probability you suffer from some form of food poisoning. Strange is this may seem, but it is frequently due to one of the common foods acting as an irritant to the system.

MISS O. A. Q.—How can I reduce?—What can be done for constipation?—Eighty reduction is merely a matter of self control and the diet. For further particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and reject your question.

2.—The diet should be corrected. Most in part of all foods unduly rich in fats and starches should be avoided.—Copyright 1930 Newspaper Service Inc.

Killing Time in Paris

BY O. O. MINTIRE

Paris July 10.—Looking directly across the broad expanse of the Avenue George V from my hotel window is a dreary old stone apartment building, spotted with those green-black spots so peculiar to Paris. Each floor has a veranda with iron railings the length of the structure.

Each floor also has a row of iron windows with white double shutters. Early this morning they appeared on the third floor veranda a fellow who wore the unmistakable broad-brimmed hat of a houseman. He was utterly fascinated me for more than four hours. When he made his first appearance he stood at the railing gazing down into the street. He remained in this attitude so long I looked down too to see what was going on. There was nothing unusual but it was a good thing for more than an hour. Finally he jerked a shutter and stood off to appraise it.

From then on for two hours he would turn from his railing gazing at intervals to fiddle various shutters along the building front. Finally he determined he was just a shutter fiddler and tried to continue his work but it was impossible. He charmed me like the snake charmer the bird.

I called my wife's attention to him and later she came excitedly to announce. "Heaven! He has a helper. Surely enough another houseman had joined him and at periods they would turn from the rail and fiddle various shutters. They finally got me to doing it.

I found myself going around the room replacing the telephone set straggling pictures on the wall smoothing out dressing table clothes and picking up such ends. At last I could stand it no longer and stood out on my balcony and tried to leave him away. He evidently thought I had become nervous for every time I would leave the door would wave back and soon his helper would assist him in the waving. So that is why in my dire dilemma I made a virtue of necessity and shut the fiddler instead of writing something interesting. I'll keep on until I get fired by cable.

Another distraction of the day was to be called to a side window by the French maid to view a funeral procession marching grimly in a steady downpour. Her knowledge of English is limited and at intervals she would exclaim fervidly: "Cute! C'est creux! C'est creux!" That was something I never heard a funeral called before.

On the wall of our bedroom is a fishing picture in a carefully clipped gilt frame called "Le Choix de Polisson" in straitening the picture I noticed some faint handwriting in English. Snooping a little with a magnifying glass I deciphered this: "Two nights in Paris and O the head ache! Ned and I, August 11, 1917." On our honeymoon and what a honeymoon! It must have been.

Among the various changes is noted the increasing number of monocles. Many Americans too self-conscious to wear them at home sport them over here and with astounding finesse. These of course are augmented by the British and home grown monocleists along with the occasional Japanese and Chinese. Incidentally one sees the highest caste Chinese here in contrast to the laundryman types at home. They ride about in Delmiers wear morning silk hats and otherwise spread an aristocratic air.

On a taxi ride today to the Halle aux Vins—the wine halls which appropriately enough have their own private zoo—a cry of "Arret" brought the taxi to a quick stop to greet a friend. Similarly my order of "Ducez" later slowed up the reckless driver who seemed to have wild hairs some place besides his head. When I finally get the swing of this language I'll make it hum.

I went berserk today and bawled out every stache in the hotel I could find from the chaiseur to the very British overlord with a thin imperial and a frock coat. This is part of the fun here. A half hour later the housekeeper brought a vase of flowers but I will not smell them. Poison ivy puffs me so.

At my next hotel in France I'm going to draw up an amended treaty with Monsieur le proprietaire providing he must furnish me with at least one waiter who has not learned his English from a Berlitz phonograph and one English speaking waiter for evening purposes and a spanking cupidito into which to toss breakfast coffee.—Copyright 1930 Newspaper Service Inc.

Submarine Arctic Exploration

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

It is difficult to surmise how the inner regions of man's going to conquer the unknown regions of the sea bottom. The necessity is the discovery in some form of a more powerful and powerful underwater craft capable of withstanding the almost calculable pressure of deep sea submergence.

So far as present day science is concerned, a submarine is a craft which can be constructed with collapse at a comparatively small depth. Modern submarines, however, phenomenal developments in recent years can submerge to a depth of 1,000 feet.

A spectacular new scientific exploration rapidly preparing bids fair to attract attention of the entire world. Sir Hubert Wilkes famous Arctic explorer is planning to make a submarine exploration of the Arctic ocean. His great ability has been demonstrated by his flight over North pole and his recent important exploits in the Antarctic.

The hazardous project of travel through Arctic waters beneath the ice is a specially constructed submarine is in the hands of a bold inventive capable and adventurous explorer.

The United States government according to recent advice has placed one of its submarines at the disposal of Sir Hubert Wilkes. According to information made available to the public this submarine will have a number of features of construction and equipment which will especially fit it for the difficult and dangerous task before it.

Above the submarine much of the time beneath the polar ice crust much of the time there is a resilient bumper similar to that on the front of an automobile. Moreover the submarine will be equipped with a long feeler arm thirty to forty feet in length which will extend upward like the control pole on a trolley car. Thus the submarine will be protected from bumps against the ice crust. The spring cushioned bumper and in its own sub surface progress will maintain contact with the under surface of the ice crust by means of the long feeler arm contact bar.

Progress beneath the ice will necessarily be slow an economical speed being from one to five miles an hour. It will be necessary to come to the surface frequently in order to recharge the batteries.

When traveling on the surface the submarine will be driven by a Diesel engine. When submerged it will be driven by electric motors and batteries. It is estimated that there will be some sixty storage batteries in the submarine now preparing. There should be many opportunities to come to the surface for it has been estimated that the Arctic ocean is dotted with open leads of near frozen water at an average distance apart of about twenty miles.—Copyright 1930 International Feature Service Inc.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

If you can not have respect for the man who is employed by you let him out. If you do have respect for him let him as a man and a gentleman. There is no excuse for rebelling in a fit of temper and bad manner a man who is working for you. He sometimes deserve a rebuke a correction a reprimand. But never talk to him who either of you are angry. You will say more than you mean. Never call down in empty in the presence of others. That is humiliating him. You can not do that to a man whom you respect.

This column prints few verses. Mostly it is just comment on this and that. Perhaps in hot weather when the spirit droops little there will be a soothing touch to the lines from an unknown author. The poem is called "Deservings."

This is the height of our deserts
A little pity for life's ills
A little run a little sun
A little sleep when work is done
A little righteous punishment
Less for our deeds than their intent
A little ardon now and then
Because we are but struggling men
A little light to show the way
A little guidance where we stray
A little love before we pass
To rest beneath the kindly grass
A little faith in days of change
When life is stark and bare and strange
A solace when our eyes are wet
With tears of longing and regret
True it is that we can not climb
Unmeasured recompense or blame
No more our way of life is small
A little is the sum of it all.

Perhaps the commonest mistake of most of us especially those who live in large cities is that we do not take time to think. It is that we do not have time but it is because we use our time for something else. It is easy to think things through but it can be done. It takes time leisure solitude. Do you remember these lines from Emerson?

We dress our garden eat our dinner discuss the household with our wives and these things make no impression are forgotten next week but in the solitude to which every man is always returning he has a sanity and revelation which in his passage into new worlds he will always carry with him. Never mind the ridicule never mind the defeat up again old heart—it seems as if there is victory set for all justice as the true romance which the world will realize will be the transformation of genius into practical power.

Our insistence that something must be done about it is sometimes the worst way we can pursue. Often the best way to the worrisome problems is to go away and let them. It is a wise man who knows when to do nothing about anything.

Dinner Stories

"The great poets are born remarked a sentimental person.
Yes and they are also read, replied an editor wearily."

You think we need a new party emblem? I surely do, answered Senator Sorbus. In some communities I am a wet and in others I am a dry.

What would you favor?
As a political amphibian I should advocate a frog.

A cutlet please but not a large one.
Take a large one sir. They are all the same.

A little boy was balancing himself on a head when an old lady who knew him came by.
Aren't you too young to do that my child? You are only six," she said.

It's all right, missis," replied the boy without losing his balance. I'm nine years and I'm upside down."

Imaginative Soldier—Just think—I've learned to fly like a bird!
Stolid Dillo—Yeh—but he can't sit on a barbed-wire fence.

JUDGE TALKS ON DIVORCES

Marshall Tells Ohio Lawyers Remedy Is Sought by Law Institute.

By The Associated Press
CEDAR POINT, O., July 10.—Pointing out that divorces in Ohio are increasing, Chief Justice Carroll, in a speech at the annual convention of the Ohio bar association today, said that the state's divorce laws are antiquated and that the law institute is working on a bill to remedy the situation.

Marshall was reporting, on the part of the institute of law, of the Ohio bar association, which is working on a bill to remedy the situation. The bill is being introduced in the state legislature.

Much argument was precipitated when the law revision committee today reported on a proposed revision of the divorce laws which would give the courts more power to grant divorces.

The opposition pointed out that in 25 Ohio counties the divorce judges are not lawyers and claimed that in many cases the interpretation of wills would be difficult for a layman.

GERMAN MINE DEATH TOLL PLACED AT 144

Eighty-One Bodies Recovered, No Hope for Those Remaining in Shaft

By The Associated Press
NIEBERG, Germany, July 10.—At least 144 persons lost their lives yesterday in an explosion at the Wessels mine. Eighty-one bodies have been recovered. No hope is held for those remaining in the shaft.

The explosion in the mine occurred when a large gas pocket was suddenly tapped during blasting late yesterday. The flames spread through the shaft so quickly that there was little chance for anyone to escape.

Rescue work proceeded furiously and finally was abandoned at about midnight, after a number of the crew killed with gas masks had been overcome or injured.

It was possible to save only 10 persons of the 144 in the mine before breaking off the rescue work.

The disaster took both men and of fields completely off their course in view of the periodical gas surges having been completed only Sunday.

It was by far the greatest mine disaster Germany has known in years, in 1912 one hundred and seven men died in the Brecht mine disaster and in 1925 the death toll in the Dortmund mine reached 137.

INCREASE SHOWN IN DRY RAID SEIZURES

68,186 Arrested, 24,373 Still Seized in Closing Year Under Treasury Program.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 10.—Prohibition enforcement during the last fiscal year, if its operation under the Treasury program, resulted in the arrest of 68,186 persons and seizure of 24,373 stills.

The arrests showed an increase of approximately 2,000 over the 1935 fiscal year and of approximately 7,000 in the number of stills seized.

These statistics were prepared by the old prohibition bureau which operated under Prohibition Commissioner Dorian until the department of justice took over prohibition enforcement on July 1 and showed that at least 1,200,000 gallons of spirits and 8,000,000 gallons of malt liquor had been seized in addition, agents of the bureau seized 8,778 automobiles.

During the year the majority of stills were captured in the southern states.

PROTESTS FILED FOR NEGRO WAR MOTHERS

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 10.—Sixty Negro war mothers will sail on the liner American Merchant Saturday to visit the graves of their sons in France. But a spokesman said today that many of them will sail unhappily because of inferior food and hotel accommodations and discrimination made in segregating them.

Under White acting secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the discrimination of the Negro mothers and that 45 of those who expected to sail had cancelled their reservations and sent a protest to President Hoover against their segregation from other groups.

Colonel Alexander L. Williams of the war department and the American Merchant, although a smaller liner than others used to carry war mothers, offered first class accommodations. He pointed out that it is a sister ship of the Sumner and the United States.

lates the party of detectives and a secret service agent went to Marion where Walton is employed as a telephone line-man.

Every section of the country is apparently with the exception of the 10 states where the plan has been adopted. The plan has cost more than $10,000. Walton has concealed various parts of the plan from the public.

Edward Conroy, United States marshal at Marion, who led the party, was forced to search for the plan. The plan was found in a box in the parlor of the hotel where Walton was staying.

Walton was taken to the federal prison at Marion. He is being held in a cell.

GILBERT MAY BE TARIFF HEAD

Hoover Considering 38-Year-Old Man for Important Post

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Reverend interest was aroused in congressional and political quarters here today by reports that President Hoover is considering the appointment of E. J. Barker Gilbert to head the reorganized U. S. tariff commission.

Gilbert only recently returned from a long tour in Europe where he supervised the payment of reparations and acted as a sort of international lord on German fiscal affairs.

The make-up of the new tariff commission is one of the most important features of the world-wide future back-dropped by the new tariff law as exemplified in the protests of numerous nations against the rates. President Hoover is anxious to put at the head of the commission a man of outstanding ability and acquaintance with foreign affairs. Gilbert has been in the U. S. for only a few days.

Only 38 years old, he has had an experience in international finance and fiscal affairs generally. He is usually in a hurry, has been the secretary of the treasury for several years, and has been assistant secretary of the treasury for the last year.

AMAZING CASE OF CINCINNATI LADY DESCRIBED

Was 111 Pounds—
Weight Fell to 110—Now
Read What Konjola
Did For Her

MRS. R. M. MILLER, CINCINNATI

Thousands of men and women and all ages have read in the news of different kinds of cures for the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and for rheumatism, uric acid and nervousness. Read what one of them, Mrs. R. M. Miller, told of her cure for the same troubles.

I was 111 pounds and for three years unable to walk properly. I had acid stomach and could not keep water down. Spots danced before my eyes and I was dizzy, nervous and constipated. Kidneys both pained me to and fro in set up both or six times at night. Nerves and knees were swollen to twice normal size and my weight fell to 110 pounds. But Konjola came as a blessing to me. I lost 10 pounds in a few days and my kidneys are strong.

Would you not like to know all about this medicine that does such things? Your druggist will be glad to tell you about this remarkable Konjola.

Konjola is sold in Marion, Ohio at Stump & Sams Pharmacy and is the best druggist in all towns throughout this entire section.

the repairs and construction of the bridge from that point of view as with the passage of a new law.

Whether Gilbert could take the job of reorganizing the tariff commission is not known. Since his return to the U. S. he has been ordered to the U. S. and Company.

DIES IN HERO ROLE

Thomas Schuster (bottom) for mer German war ace who was killed by a brave attempt to kill Miss Mary Fabrey, 18-year-old daughter of a millionaire medicine manufacturer of Oak Park, Ill. who dangled in the air for two hours from a parachute.

When she was 18, she was a parachute jumper at Schuster's airport. She was 11 but her parachute failed and she fell to the ground. Schuster attempted to rescue her by climbing down a ladder but she fell from his hands. He then jumped to her and she fell to the ground. He then jumped to her and she fell to the ground. He then jumped to her and she fell to the ground.
